

Mr P R Raghuram

He is B.E.(Electronics and communication) from Malnad College of Engineering Hassan in the year 1978. He has got a special diploma in management. A senior member of IEEE. He has got 29 years of industrial experience. He has worked in KPTCL, NTPC and power grid in various capacities in the field of communication, power system protection, construction, O&M etc. His areas of interest include power system economics, power system protection and power system operation. He has published several papers in national and international seminars.