

Dr S K Gupta

He is Professor, Centre for Measurement and Evaluation, National Institute for Technical Teachers' Training and Research, Bhopal. He is B.E. (Electrical Engineering), Maulana Azad National Institute of Technology, Bhopal. An M. Tech. (Heavy Electrical Engineering), MANIT, Bhopal he has Ph.D. (Professional Education) from University of Newcastle Upon Tyne, UK. From 1984 to 1993 at BHEL Bhopal's Transformer Design Department. Responsible for designs of up to 315 MVA, 400 KV class transformers. Received National Research and Development Award of Govt. of India for development of India's first HVDC transformer and Smoothing Reactor for National HVDC Experimental Line Project. From 1993 to till date working at National Institute of Technical Teachers' Training and Research, Bhopal. Area of interests includes assessment of professional development, curriculum development in emerging technological area, etc. He was Co-convenor of the First International Conference on "Wind Energy: Trends and Issues" organised at NITTTR, Bhopal from 5th to 7th Jan 2006.